

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A kite slider comprising:

a base frame and a flying device engaging with the base frame, the base frame having a hollow casing, a winding rod inserted through the 5 hollow casing, and a connection rod connected to the winding rod and extending outward from the hollow casing, an end ring disposed on the connection rod, a retainer device connected to the hollow casing and a distal end of the winding rod, a distal ring disposed on the winding rod,

10 the hollow casing having a retaining notch, the flying device having a main frame, a pair of leaf blades connected to the main frame, a click frame connected to the leaf blades, and a hooking device disposed on the main frame, and the click frame engaging with the retaining notch of the hollow casing.

15 2. The kite slider as claimed in claim 1, wherein a movable latch is disposed in the hollow casing to be inserted through the retaining notch.

20

25